Nevada GOED Hosts Event to Help Cut Red Tape and Connect Small Businesses to Government Contracts

LAS VEGAS – The Nevada Governor's Office of Economic Development (GOED) is hosting an event in Minden next week to help match Nevada small businesses with local, state and federal contracting and subcontracting opportunities.

The Small Business Matchmaker will be held in Minden on Wednesday, Feb. 27, from 9 a.m. until 12 p.m. in the historic Carson Valley Improvement Club Hall, 1602 Esmerelda Ave. The event provides an opportunity for small businesses to meet one-on-one with government procurement representatives, government prime contractors, resource partners and with one another.

“Providing opportunities for small business in our state is a priority of my administration. Events like these will continue to allow small businesses in Nevada to thrive,” Gov. Steve Sisolak said. “I encourage all small business owners to take advantage of events like these and opportunities offered by the state.”

GOED's Nevada Procurement Technical Assistance Center (PTAC) partnered with Carson Valley Chamber of Commerce for the event. Nevada PTAC helps simplify the process of competing for government contracts for small businesses by cutting through the red tape and connecting businesses with lucrative opportunities through events, education, proposal review and other document-related assistance, and other services.

“With the Nevada PTAC, GOED helps provide small businesses with the tools they need to be competitive when bidding for local, county, state and federal contracts,” said GOED Executive Director Paul Anderson. “We continue to find innovative ways to assist our Nevada businesses to grow, prosper, and in turn, grow our state's economy.”

Attendees are asked to register for the event by Monday, Feb. 25, online and bring a one-page document of the company's capabilities.
